

TIRES TIRES TIRES

Twelve-and-one-Half Per Cent. Reduction on Famous
UNITED STATES, G. & J. BRANDS
TIRES AND TUBES.
FIRST CLASS NEW STOCK.

Factory Guaranteed 3500 Mile Adjustments
Ford Sizes a Specialty.

To each customer purchasing a Tire and Tube we will give one Champion Spark Plug.

This Sale will continue one week only, beginning Monday Morning, May 8, and ending Saturday night, May 13. The fact that we contracted for these Tires before the advance in prices enables us to make this Big Reduction.

Prices Quoted Below For Sale Week Only

Size	Plain Tread	Non-Skid	Red Tube
28x3	$ 8.00	$ 8.35	$ 2.30
30x3	8.55	8.95	2.40
30x3 1/2	11.10	11.65	3.15
32x3 1/2	12.75	13.40	3.35
32x4	17.35	18.20	4.00
33x4	18.20	19.15	4.10
34x4	18.60	19.50	4.25
35x4 1/2	25.85	27.15	5.50
36x4 1/2	26.25	27.55	5.60
37x5	30.60	32.10	6.65

No Charge Accounts Made At the Above Prices

Best Equipped Repair Department in the State

Clarksburg Tire Company

HOME PHONE 53.

111 SOUTH SECOND STREET

BELL PHONE 583

FIRE PREVENTION MEASURES URGED

By Association in Campaign against Needless Sacrifice of Life and Property.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Ten measures to be advocated by the National Fire Protection Association in its warfare against the needless sacrifice of human lives and property by fire were introduced in the form of resolutions at the annual meeting of the association here today. The measures proposed are:

1. The adoption by municipalities of the Standard Building Code of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to the end that fire resistive building construction may be encouraged, the use of inflammable roof coverings prohibited, adequate exit facilities from buildings assured, and interiors so designed and fire-stopped as to make easy the extinguishment of fires therein.
2. The adoption by all states of minimum building requirements for the protection of state and county hospitals, asylums and similar institutions outside city limits and of small communities in which the establishment and enforcement of a building code is impracticable.
3. The enactment by each state of the fire marshal law advocated by the Fire Marshal's Association of North America to the end that official investigation may be made of the causes of all fires, preventable fires may be eliminated by public education, and the crime of arson stamped out.
4. The adoption of the association's suggested ordinance providing for a systematic inspection of all buildings by city fire marshals or local firemen to insure the vigorous enforcement of rules for cleanliness, good housekeeping, and the maintenance of safe and unobstructed exits, fire-fighting apparatus and other protective devices.
5. The enactment of ordinance similar to that of Cleveland, O., fixing "Wonders for Me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadin, Spencerport, N. Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

the cost of extinguishing preventable fire upon citizens disregarding fire prevention orders, and a more general recognition of the common law principle of personal liability for damage resulting from fires due to carelessness or neglect.

6. The wider general use of the automatic sprinkler as a fire extinguishing agent and life saver and the more general adoption of the fire division wall as an important life saving exit facility.
7. A careful study of the technical surveys of cities made by the engineers of the committee on fire prevention of the National Board of Fire Underwriters covering the items of water supplies, their adequacy and reliability; fire department efficiency; fire alarm systems and conflagration hazards; and of the possibility of co-operation among neighboring cities through mutual aid and the standardization of hose couplings.
8. The adoption of the association's suggested laws and ordinances for state and municipal regulation of the transportation, storage and use of inflammable liquids and explosives.
9. The universal adoption and use of the safety match and legislation prohibiting smoking in all parts of factories, industrial and mercantile buildings except in such fire-proof rooms as may be especially approved for the purpose by fire departments.
10. The education of children and the public generally in careful habits regarding the use of fire.

LEWIS COUNTY NEWS EVENTS ARE REPORTED

Correspondent Keeps Tab of That Section for Readers of the Telegram.

WESTON, May 8.—Mrs. Robert L. Bland and daughter, Miss Urilla, visited in Clarksburg last week. Andrew Edmiston is recovering from an attack of acute indigestion. The Rev. Earle A. Brooks is very ill with diphtheria at his home on River avenue.

Miss Pauline Blake, drawing teacher in the public schools, left Friday for her home in North Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riley and Mrs. Riley's mother, Mrs. Maymie Tracey, arrived here from Baltimore the first of the week on a visit to relatives.

Virgil Collins and sister left the last of the week for Akron, where they will be employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kohlegard, of Washington, are guests of relatives in the city.

S. A. Hays, deputy revenue collector of Parkersburg, was here Thursday.

William King has typhoid fever.

Mrs. A. F. Whelan, Jr. is on the sick list.

Sam L. Butcher left Sunday for Akron, O.

Mr. David Curran was called to New York City on account of the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. Gus Glanzen.

John Carroll, of Roanoke, was a recent Weston visitor.

Dr. Mike Whelan, of Roanoke, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Margaret Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Heavener, of Buckhannon, are visiting the home of their son, J. G. G. Heavener, in North Weston.

Elizabeth Price continues to be critically ill at her home in North Weston.

Florence Darr, little daughter of C. Darr, while on the porch of a playmate's house, was hit with a rock from blasting and as a consequence is suffering from a badly mashed foot.

A. M. Low, of Walkersville, was a recent Weston visitor.

Mrs. George Gibson, of Denver, Colo., was called here on account of the illness of her sister, Mrs. Ross Jennings Compton. Mrs. Compton died Sunday morning at ten-thirty.

Physician's Eczema Remedy

Dr. Holmes, the well-known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years. This soothing combination of oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other healing ingredients called D. D. D. Prescription is now a favorite remedy of skin specialists for all skin diseases. It penetrates the pores, gives instant relief from the most distressing itch. Its soothing oil quickly heal the inflamed tissues. Druggists are glad to recommend this soothing, cooling liquid. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Come to us and we will tell you more about this remarkable remedy. Your money back unless the first bottle relieves you. H. D. D. keeps your skin healthy. Ask about it. WELLS-HAYMAKER CO.

DUBLIN AS REVIEWED BY THE GEOGRAPHERS

Shows the City of the Latest Irish Rebellion a Place of Great Interest.

(SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM)

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Many points of historical interest and civic beauty have been threatened with destruction or damage during the armed violence which began in Dublin, Ireland's capital, on Easter Monday. Today's war geography bulletin, issued by the National Geographic Society from its headquarters in Washington, gives the following interesting resume of these buildings and public grounds:

"Dublin, the center of the latest of many uprisings in Ireland, besides being richer in historic associations than any other city in the country, is also the largest, having enjoyed a thirty-three per cent increase in population since 1901, thus passing Belfast with its ten per cent increase. With more than 400,000 population, the capital city is about the size of Newark, N. J."

"The principal thoroughfare of Ireland's metropolis is Sackville street, 120 feet wide, three-fourths the width of Pennsylvania avenue, Washington. On both sides of this main artery of traffic are situated the principal government buildings. Of course, the most familiar architectural features of the city are the great rambling Dublin castle and the famous Dublin University, or Trinity College, the latter containing a magnificent library of more than 300,000 volumes and two of the most noted statues of the United Kingdom, Foley's memorials to the literary genius of Oliver Goldsmith and the oratorical eminence and statesmanship of the city's native son, Edmund Burke."

"Of scarcely less interest than these two buildings is St. Patrick's cathedral, which stands on the site of the church said to have been built by St. Patrick himself when he came to christianize the island in 453. The original church stood until 1890, while the present structure dates back to 1190, having been almost destroyed by fire in 1362. It has been restored recently at a cost of three-quarters of a million dollars, through the munificence of Dublin's wealthy brewer, Guinness. It was over this cathedral that Jonathan Swift, the great satirist, author of the 'Tale of a Tub' and 'Gulliver's travels,' presided as dean during the last years of his checkered career. He was buried here, in the same coffin with his beloved 'Stella,' thus completing the final chapter in one of the great romances of the literary world, a romance less idyllic, perhaps, than that of Petrarch and Laura, or of Dante and Beatrice, or of Shakespeare and the Dark Lady of the Sonnets, but none the less engrossing in its interest for the lover-loving world."

"Near this cathedral is a shrine dear to the hearts of all lovers of poetry of sentiment—No. 12 Augier street, the house in which Tom Moore was born. And to a different type of reader a modest house in Merrion Row has an equally strong appeal as the birthplace of Oscar Wilde. In the same row is the house in which the famous patriot, O'Connell, lived many years."

"While Dublin is adorned with many beautiful squares and terraces, especially in the southeast and northeast sections, the great recreation ground, one of the finest in the world, is Phoenix park, which is more than twice as large as Central Park, New York. In this reservation are zoological gardens, two barracks, the Imperial Military School, and a natural amphitheater covering fifteen acres, which is used as a reviewing field and as a race course. It was in this park, in 1882, that the newly appointed secretary for Ireland, Lord Cavendish, and the permanent under secretary, Thomas Henry Burke, were murdered in daylight, the assassins using automatic knives."

"Glasnevin, a residential suburb to the north, was the favorite place of residence of the literary giants, Steele, Swift and Sheridan, all of whom were born in Dublin. South of the city is Donnybrook, once famous for its annual fairs, held under license granted by King John in 1204. Eventually the fairs became so notorious on account of the frequent disorders that they were discontinued."

"The slum section of the city is known as 'Liberties,' at one time the center of the silk industry introduced into the island by the Huguenots, who fled to Ireland to escape persecution in France after the revocation of the edict of Nantes."

erary world, a romance less idyllic, perhaps, than that of Petrarch and Laura, or of Dante and Beatrice, or of Shakespeare and the Dark Lady of the Sonnets, but none the less engrossing in its interest for the lover-loving world."

"Near this cathedral is a shrine dear to the hearts of all lovers of poetry of sentiment—No. 12 Augier street, the house in which Tom Moore was born. And to a different type of reader a modest house in Merrion Row has an equally strong appeal as the birthplace of Oscar Wilde. In the same row is the house in which the famous patriot, O'Connell, lived many years."

"While Dublin is adorned with many beautiful squares and terraces, especially in the southeast and northeast sections, the great recreation ground, one of the finest in the world, is Phoenix park, which is more than twice as large as Central Park, New York. In this reservation are zoological gardens, two barracks, the Imperial Military School, and a natural amphitheater covering fifteen acres, which is used as a reviewing field and as a race course. It was in this park, in 1882, that the newly appointed secretary for Ireland, Lord Cavendish, and the permanent under secretary, Thomas Henry Burke, were murdered in daylight, the assassins using automatic knives."

"Glasnevin, a residential suburb to the north, was the favorite place of residence of the literary giants, Steele, Swift and Sheridan, all of whom were born in Dublin. South of the city is Donnybrook, once famous for its annual fairs, held under license granted by King John in 1204. Eventually the fairs became so notorious on account of the frequent disorders that they were discontinued."

"The slum section of the city is known as 'Liberties,' at one time the center of the silk industry introduced into the island by the Huguenots, who fled to Ireland to escape persecution in France after the revocation of the edict of Nantes."

erary world, a romance less idyllic, perhaps, than that of Petrarch and Laura, or of Dante and Beatrice, or of Shakespeare and the Dark Lady of the Sonnets, but none the less engrossing in its interest for the lover-loving world."

"Near this cathedral is a shrine dear to the hearts of all lovers of poetry of sentiment—No. 12 Augier street, the house in which Tom Moore was born. And to a different type of reader a modest house in Merrion Row has an equally strong appeal as the birthplace of Oscar Wilde. In the same row is the house in which the famous patriot, O'Connell, lived many years."

"While Dublin is adorned with many beautiful squares and terraces, especially in the southeast and northeast sections, the great recreation ground, one of the finest in the world, is Phoenix park, which is more than twice as large as Central Park, New York. In this reservation are zoological gardens, two barracks, the Imperial Military School, and a natural amphitheater covering fifteen acres, which is used as a reviewing field and as a race course. It was in this park, in 1882, that the newly appointed secretary for Ireland, Lord Cavendish, and the permanent under secretary, Thomas Henry Burke, were murdered in daylight, the assassins using automatic knives."

"Glasnevin, a residential suburb to the north, was the favorite place of residence of the literary giants, Steele, Swift and Sheridan, all of whom were born in Dublin. South of the city is Donnybrook, once famous for its annual fairs, held under license granted by King John in 1204. Eventually the fairs became so notorious on account of the frequent disorders that they were discontinued."

"The slum section of the city is known as 'Liberties,' at one time the center of the silk industry introduced into the island by the Huguenots, who fled to Ireland to escape persecution in France after the revocation of the edict of Nantes."

erary world, a romance less idyllic, perhaps, than that of Petrarch and Laura, or of Dante and Beatrice, or of Shakespeare and the Dark Lady of the Sonnets, but none the less engrossing in its interest for the lover-loving world."

"Near this cathedral is a shrine dear to the hearts of all lovers of poetry of sentiment—No. 12 Augier street, the house in which Tom Moore was born. And to a different type of reader a modest house in Merrion Row has an equally strong appeal as the birthplace of Oscar Wilde. In the same row is the house in which the famous patriot, O'Connell, lived many years."

"While Dublin is adorned with many beautiful squares and terraces, especially in the southeast and northeast sections, the great recreation ground, one of the finest in the world, is Phoenix park, which is more than twice as large as Central Park, New York. In this reservation are zoological gardens, two barracks, the Imperial Military School, and a natural amphitheater covering fifteen acres, which is used as a reviewing field and as a race course. It was in this park, in 1882, that the newly appointed secretary for Ireland, Lord Cavendish, and the permanent under secretary, Thomas Henry Burke, were murdered in daylight, the assassins using automatic knives."

"Glasnevin, a residential suburb to the north, was the favorite place of residence of the literary giants, Steele, Swift and Sheridan, all of whom were born in Dublin. South of the city is Donnybrook, once famous for its annual fairs, held under license granted by King John in 1204. Eventually the fairs became so notorious on account of the frequent disorders that they were discontinued."

"The slum section of the city is known as 'Liberties,' at one time the center of the silk industry introduced into the island by the Huguenots, who fled to Ireland to escape persecution in France after the revocation of the edict of Nantes."

CHECKS

With a checking account your payments are systematized; loss of money by theft or carelessness is prevented; you always have the right change; each check shows date, amount and payee; paid checks is the best receipt; bank gratuitously assists you to keep your books; merchants prefer that you pay by check; checks are clean, convenient and safe; it adds to your business prestige.

CAPITAL THE UNION SURPLUS
 $500,000.00 NATIONAL BANK $200,000.00

4%

4%